BREEDING SHED

Keeping the Membership informed, LTBA President Warren J. Harang, III

The 2018 running of Louisiana Champions Day is now in the history books. Members of the U.S. Armed Forces were once again honored as has become the tradition for the day. In spite of the drenching rains at the start of the day, the weather cleared and the races went off without a hitch. Louisiana Champions Day always brings both new talent and old favorites to the winners circle. Congratulations to the connections of the winners and to all of the competitors. This day continues to bring out the best in Louisiana bred racing.

Louisiana Commissioner of Agriculture Dr. Mike Strain visited the Fair Grounds again on Louisiana Champions Day. Dr. Strain has been and continues to be our greatest supporter and advocate in the Louisiana Legislature. The LTBA took the opportunity to recognize Dr. Strain with a plaque and an honorary lifetime membership. We are so very grateful for everything he does for us.

The breeding season is now underway. In addition to new 2019 Louisiana stallions, Clearly Now, Country Day, Daaher, Gemologist, Mobile Bay and Yockey's Warrior, all of whom I have mentioned previously, we have another four new stallions joining the breeding ranks. Tom's Ready, a multiple graded stakes winning son of More Than Ready moves to Jay Adcock's Red River Farms for his second season, while Requite, a G2 placed stakes winning son of Warrior's Reward has also retired to join the stallion roster at the Coushatta farm. (See ad on page 15). Power Jam, a two time track record setting sprinter by Concord Point, moves to Jumonville Farms in Ventress after standing a test season in California. (See ad on page 18). Another graded stakes winner, Ocean Knight, the only son of Curlin standing in Louisiana will be at Averett Farm in Loranger. (See ad on page 21). You can also read more about these stallions in this magazine on page 17.

Louisiana bred thoroughbreds continue to make an impact on the national market. Perry Judice and David Meche purchased Semillon (Eskendereya), carrying her first foal by Outwork, for just $35,000 at the 2017 Keeneland November Sale and were rewarded at the 2019 Keeneland January Sale when the resulting Louisiana-bred colt (hip 132) sold to Chris White for $120,000. The mare was bred back to Astrology.

Clear Creek Stud is once again to be congratulated for putting on an exceptional stallion show in December. Val Murrell and his staff put on a first rate function. This annual event is a showcase for our entire breeding industry. Industry leaders as well as several state legislators were in attendance, making this an opportunity for legislators to learn more about how important our industry is to the economy of the state, as well as an opportunity for horsemen to talk with them face to face. Additionally, in January Clear Creek Stud hosted a tour of visitors from the American Farm Bureau Federation 100th Annual Convention & IDEAg Trade Show which was being held in New Orleans. Attendees from around the country were introduced to the Louisiana Thoroughbred breeding industry, bringing attention to us on a National level.

Our next big event is Louisiana Premier Night coming up quickly at Delta Downs, Saturday, February 9. This is first of the four state-bred stakes days in Louisiana, one held at each track.

I encourage everyone to be actively involved in all aspects of our industry. Come to a board meeting; be informed and involved. Come to the races; bring your family and friends; the more interest we can generate, the better for all of us. "The more the merrier!" We at the LTBA are doing all we can to be of service to you, the breeders. If you have any questions about our program, the staff in our offices at Fair Grounds and Louisiana Downs are happy to help. I personally am always happy to hear from you, especially with suggestions for improving our program.

LOUISIANA Champions Day 2018

by Gary McMillen

As has now become tradition, members of the U.S. Armed Forces presented the colors, visited the paddock and made trophy presentations. Representatives from the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines were honored during the days festivities.

You can look it up in the record books. Louisiana Champions Day at Fair Grounds has a demonstrated history of coinciding with cold and stormy weather. Bring your umbrella, gloves and boots. On December 8, two hours before the first accredited Louisiana-bred stakes race it was raining so hard that frogs were drowning in the infield. Flash flood warnings were posted in the city of New Orleans as a major rain system rolled across the southwest.

In spite of the wet and gloomy conditions—a military contingent of enlisted men and officers from the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines stood traditional color guard in the paddock for the playing of the National Anthem. Semper fi. The traditional show of Louisiana’s top state-breds must go on.

Bring it. Wet or dry. Long or short. Fast or slow. Mallory Greiner's Underpressure can handle it. In the $100,000 Louisiana Champions Day Classic, the chestnut colt proved he can show up at the party and dance to any music.

Beaten only a length in last year's Classic by Mobile Bay, Underpressure was rated in mid-pack by Corey Lanerie. The 4-year-old son of Birdstone—Charming Colleen, by Charismatic got the jump on eventual runner-up Grand Bayou and then slammed the door to score by a decisive 3-1/2 lengths. "We wanted to be up a little closer," Lanerie said, "but I had to ride with the cards that I was dealt with and let him run his own race."

Trainer Chris Richards prepares and conditions Underpressure and described the main strengths of his colt whose career box now reads 25: 8-6-6. "Ultra consistency. Plain and simple," Richards said. "He gives you everything he's got every single time no matter what the conditions are. He can be close to the lead or come off the pace. He can stalk mid-pack. He can run in open company. It doesn't matter. For him it just depends on how things set up. In one word—versatility. It's really more about the horse than anything I do."

Underpressure was bred by James McIngvale and navigated the 1-1/8 mile of the Classic in the final time of 1:52.82.

According to trainer Chris Richard, the Delta Mile is penciled in for Underpressure's next race.

Riders up. By post time of the $100,000 Louisiana Champions Day Lassie for 2-year-old fillies the storm had lessened in intensity and turned into a steady drizzle. In the paddock Carl Moore's Midnight Fantasy was a picture of calm and poise in the paddock before stepping out onto the sloppy track. Continuing to improve in her second career race, Midnight Fantasy made it look easy and won off by 3-14 lengths.

Snug in hand under Adam Beschizza, heavy favorite Midnight Fantasy reeled in quick fractions and disposed of her competition at the top of the lane then coasted home in the final time of 1:12.50.

Breeder Jay Adock grew up in an athletic household and was challenged to conceal his competitive personality in the winner's circle. "C'mon now—this is what we breeders live and work for,"

Midnight Fantasy owner, Carl Moore.

Adcock said. "When you plan a mating and you race in Louisiana you are looking ahead to days like this. Each track in the state has stakes days like this and your ultimate goal is to be represented and have a shot."

"Champions Day is right in your lap and you want to make the most of the opportunity," Adcock continued. "Let me tell you, our filly was a short price but it's not easy to win these races. You have to run. There are no 'gimmees' out here. You just hope you end up with the good connections and the horse can do her part. You have pride when you breed one that makes the grade."

Trained by Joe Sharp, Midnight Fantasy, a daughter of Midnight Lute—St. Jean, by Macho Uno is now an undefeated two-for-two.

CLASSY JOHN

Songandaprayer-Kitty's Got Class by Old Forester

Owner: Valene Farms LLC • Breeder: Tom Curtis & Wayne Simpson

Trainer: Dallas Stewart • Jockey: Brian J. Hernandez, Jr.

Hodges Photography / Lou Hodges, Jr.

For Valene Farms' 2-year-old colt Classy John, the $100,000 Louisiana Champions Day Juvenile was a stroll in the park.

Trained by Dallas Stewart and ridden by Brian Hernandez, Classy John went head and head with Pickett down the backside. The son of Songandaprayer secured the rail on the far turn while held in check. Once homeward bound, Classy John, under a hand ride, broke contact with the field and scampered away to an impressive 4-1/4 length victory.

Partnered with Tom Curtis, Wayne Simpson took the mike to represent the breeder of Classy John. "Moments like this are the best feeling in the world," Simpson explained. "You work every day with these horses and then to get a runner like him is a really big deal. As a baby he was quite an athlete. He grew up like he was supposed to and then ended up in the right hands with Mr. Murray Valene. This is the first foal of the mare (Kitty's Got Class) to get to the races so that shows us some promise."

Final time for the six furlongs of the Juvenile was 1:11.55.

Credentials for Classy John were approved when the colt won a Maiden Special event at Saratoga in his career debut.

Shopping for bargains? Purchased at this year's Equine Sales of Louisiana-bred 2-year-olds for $12,000, Classy John now has career earnings of $120,230.

Trainer: Tyron Benoit • Jockey: James Graham

Hodges Photography / Lou Hodges, Jr.

The $100,000 Louisiana Champions Day Turf was taken off the grass, but the field remained largely intact. It's not an easy task to come from behind in a small field but Brittlyn Stable's Magic Vow rallied from last place under the meet's leading rider James Graham to win by a convincing four lengths.

Trained by Tyron Benoit, Magic Vow was making his third start in the gelding's form cycle. Sustained forward progress put Magic Vow in the thick of the battle as the pack reached the quarter pole. A right handed whip caught Magic Vow's attention and the son of Private Vow pulled away from the chase group. Final time for the 1-1/16 mile was 1:47.17.

After the race, jockey Graham asked for a plastic cup of water that he poured over his head and face to remove the mud before facing the camera. "That's what happens on a sloppy race track when you are not in the first three," Graham explained. "He (Magic Vow) is not that quick away from the gate so I backed him away from the leaders. At the 3/8th pole he started creeping forward without me having to ask him. That's always a good sign and he went after them from there."

Before leaving the winner's circle, Graham shook hands with the Navy officer that handed out the trophy. "I always have a lot of respect for the soldiers for what they do," Graham said. "Their job is harder than ours."

Piling it on. The Champions Day Turf was breeder Jay Adcock's second win of the day.

REMEMBER DAISY

Misremembered-Very Speightstown by Speightstown

Owner: Al and Bill Ulwelling • Breeder: Al Ulwelling and Bill Ulwelling

Trainer: Gary M. Scherer • Jockey: Mitchell Murrell

Hodges Photography / Lou Hodges, Jr.

Slumber party. Al and Bill Ulwelling's home-bred Remember Daisy put them all to sleep with a wire-to-wire gallop in the $100,000 Champions Day Ladies. Due to the adverse weather conditions the 1-1/16 mile race was taken off the turf and Remember Daisy was allowed to set her own slow fractions around both turns. In a day punctuated with big margin wins, Remember Daisy's 8 length victory was the widest margin of the day.

Regular rider Mitchell Murrill was in the irons. "Down the lane she got a little lost and was looking around but they were all chasing her so it didn't make much difference," Murrill said.

A long story short. Remember Daisy got her name from a mistake in decision making by owner Bill Ulwelling, who resides in Minnesota, "Eight years ago my son and I flew down to Texas to claim some horses. On the plane I told my son that somebody was smart enough to pay $95,000 for Very Speightstown and only $6,000 for Daisy Devine. So we claimed Very Speightstown. The race went off and Daisy Devin passed our claim decision in the stretch and won. The moral of the story is we claimed the wrong horse because Daisy Devine went on to be a millionaire. Our horse ended up making career $57K. So when we bred Very Speightstown to our mare Misremembered I kept that life lesson in my mind."

Trained by Gary Scherer, the Louisiana Champions Day Ladies was the third stakes win in the young career of Remember Daisy.

GIVEMEAMINIT

Star Guitar-Powerful Nation by Turkoman

Owner: Valene Farms LLC • Breeder: Clear Creek Stud LLC

Trainer: Dallas Stewart • Jockey: Corey J. Lanerie

Hodges Photography / Lou Hodges, Jr.

Trey Lavoice and daughter Lizzy representing breeders, Clear Creek Stud, join Murray Valene in the winners circle.

The popular and accepted theme of the $100,000 Louisiana Champions Day Sprint was that Monte Man, who was undefeated in the six starts of his spotless 2018 campaign at all four racetracks in Louisiana would extend his win streak.

It wasn't that kind of party. The well traveled and well seasoned against top grades stakes competition across the country, Valene Farms's bay colt Givemeaminit gutted it out to win by a last jump "neck" victory over Divine Bean. Monte Man finished third.

Under Corey Lanerie, Givemeaminit saved ground on the turn and was roused to interest at the quarter pole. Angled out to the middle of the track in mid-stretch, the son of Star Guitar dug down deep and rallied to catch the determined Divine Bean to win by a last jump "neck" in the quick final time of 1:10.52.

Owner Murray Valene commented on the popularity of his colt. "This is a kind of special validation for me because he was named after my Dad, who passed away recently. This was his favorite horse. He's been knocking heads in deep graded stakes company at so many tracks. He has faced the best. The way he has traveled from track to track and faced open company he has built a little fan base all over the United States. People love him."

Bred by Clear Creek Stud, Givemeaminit is trained by Dallas Stewart, who was winning his second race on the Champions Day card for owner Murray Valene.

Another successful combination was the exacta of Givemeaminit and Divine Bean as both horses were sired by Star Guitar.

OURS TO RUN

Hodges Photography / Lou Hodges, Jr.

Under the winter lights and one last wave of rain showers, Colonel Thoroughbreds' Ours to Run strolled home to an easy victory in the $100,000 Louisiana Champions Day Ladies Sprint.

Patently handled by jockey Gabriel Saez, the 4-year-old daughter of Half Ours stalked the early pace in third while between horses. Eyes on the target, Our to Run, glided closer to the pace setters going around the far turn. Swung wide and free of traffic at the top of the lane, Ours to Run toyed momentarily with the leaders then came home straight as a string on the sloppy track and coasted home to a five length victory.

The final time of 1:10.37 for the Ladies Sprint on a sloppy track was the fastest clocking of the night.

Trained by Larry Jones and bred by Clifford Grum, Ours to Run has now reeled off three consecutive stakes victories and boosted her lifetime earnings to $277,988. The bay filly's stamp of class can be captured in her career record of 17 starts, 9 wins, 2 seconds and one third place finish.

As the odds on favorite in the Colt & Gelding division of the Louisiana Futurity, Classy John did not disappoint owner Valene Farms LLC with a virtual rerun of the Louisiana Champions Day Juvenile by being chased home by Jimi's A Star in both races. The son of Songandaprayer was purchased at the Equine Sales of Louisiana Two-Year-Old in Training Sale from the consignment of Clear Creek Stud LLC for Bred by Tom Curtis and Wayne Simpson from the Old Forester dam, Kitty's Got Class, Classy John, who is trained by Dallas Stewart, broke his maiden at Saratoga in the summer and has now won three of four starts with earnings of $171,650. Kitty's Got Class was bred to Custom For Carlos in 2018.

REAL SOLUTION

At first glance, Real Solution looks like an obvious misfit in a Louisiana stallion market known for demanding speed and precocity. A grass runner—a category that itself is a tough sell to many American breeders—he did not show his best form until age 4 and needed 10 furlongs to really strut his stuff.

First glances can be deceptive, however. Much the same could have been said of Real Solution's sire Kitten's Joy except that he came to top form at 3 rather than 4, and Kitten's Joy surprised just about everyone except owner-breeders Ken and Sarah Ramsey by leading the American juvenile sire list in 2011. Taking a page from his sire's book, Real Solution has likewise gotten off to an unexpectedly fast start as the leading Louisiana freshman sire of 2018 by number of winners and number of repeat winners. He also made an unexpected splash at the juvenile sales of 2018, with two colts selling for $675,000 and $325,000 at the Ocala Breeders' Sales March sale of 2-year-olds in training after working smart quarter-miles.

A Ramsey homebred, Real Solution himself came to hand early enough to win his only start as a juvenile while racing in Italy. He continued to race in Italy at 3, winning the listed Premio Botticelli. At 4, the Ramseys brought the colt back to the United States and were rewarded by vastly improved form, winning the Arlington Million (G1T) with him and placing in the Woodford Reserve Manhattan Handicap (G1T) and the Joe Hirsch Turf Classic Invitational Stakes (G1T). Real Solution added a victory in the Knob Creek Manhattan Stakes (G1T) and a runner-up finish in the Man o' War Stakes (G1T) at 5 and retired with five wins, four placings, and $1,374,175 from 15 starts.

Retired to Ramsey Farm for 2015, Real Solution stood for one season alongside his sire before moving on to Calumet Farm, where he stood in 2016 and 2017. During his second season at Calumet, he was joined on the stallion roster by the similarly sired Big Blue Kitten, the 2015 American champion turf male. That put three staying turf runners in the Calumet stallion barn (the farm also stands 2007 champion grass male English Channel, an established success), and Real Solution was finding himself squeezed out by the competition on his own farm.

Selling the stallion for export was one possibility, but Calumet had faith that Real Solution could still be a success in America if he were just given a chance to get enough mates to prove himself. A lease to Blue Star Farm near Scott proved to be the solution Calumet was looking for. Real Solution bred 41 mares in 2018 (up from just 10 in 2017), and his prospects for 2019 look bright at an advertised fee of $5,000.

For that $5,000, breeders will be getting access to a lot of pedigree as well as grade 1 performance. Since earning his juvenile sire title in 2011, Kitten's Joy has proved many times over that he was no flash in the pan. The American champion turf male of 2004 rose to the top of the tree in 2013 as the leader of the general sire list and earned his second general sire championship in 2018 with total progeny earnings for the year of $18,647,331—the second-highest ever for an American-based sire, outpaced only by Tapit's $19.2 million in 2016. And it should come as no surprise that the son of 2002 champion sire El Prado has ruled as the king of the nation's turf sires every year since 2013. He has enjoyed success in Europe as well, where his son Roaring Lion was named the 2018 Cartier Horse of the Year.

A full brother to juvenile stakes winner Ava's Kitten (who trained on to be grade 3-placed at 3), Real Solution is out of the juvenile winner Reachfortheheavens, a daughter of Pulpit. The latter stallion, a good sire for Claiborne Farm, may be a key to Real Solution's ability to get early winners, for his dam Preach won the Frizette Stakes (G1) as a 2-year-old and traces to the speedy Claiborne family descended from the great Round Table's full sister Monarchy.

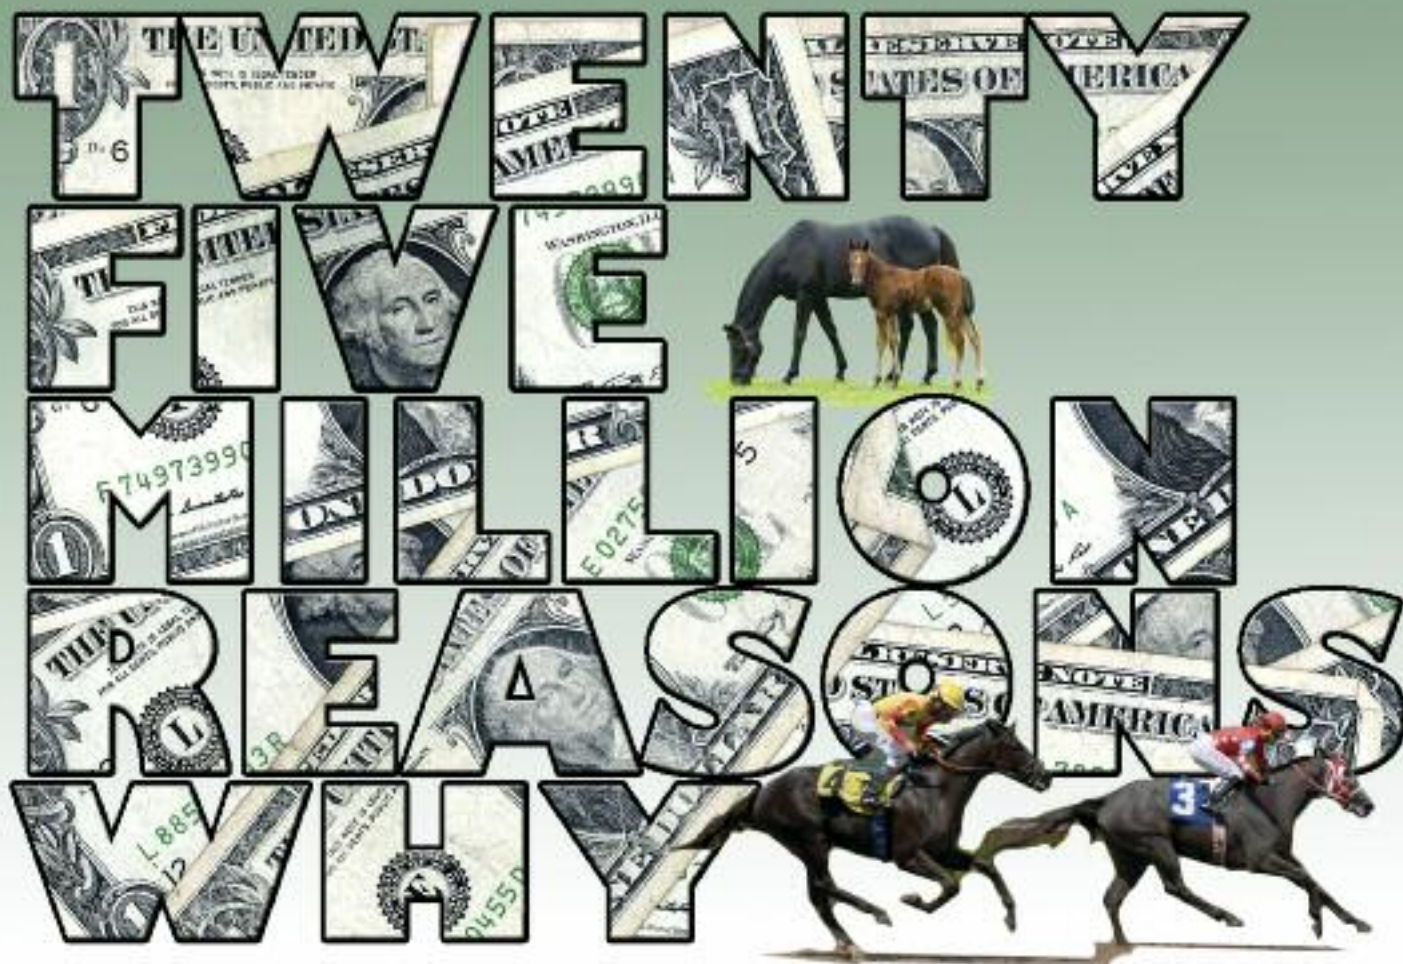

Sired by Mr. Prospector from champion juvenile Honest Pleasure's good daughter Narrate, Preach is a full sister to Yarn, dam of the good Storm Cat son Tale of the Cat and second dam of 2001 American and European champion juvenile Johannesburg (by Storm Cat's son Hennessy). As Kitten's Joy has done well with Storm Cat-line mares—a strain that Real Solution himself is free of—this would seem to point to a promising cross for Real Solution, whose best winner to date, Speedy Solution, is out of a Johannesburg mare, and who has two other winners of 2018 from Storm Cat-line mares. Mares by Johannesburg and Tale of the Cat may be particularly suitable, playing off the same Preach/Yarn cross that is an interesting point in the pedigree of 2018 Triple Crown winner Justify.

Given his own proclivities, Real Solution's runners should only improve with maturity and distance, tendencies likely to be reinforced by the presence of Dynaformer as his second dam's sire. Real Solution's third dam Northabout (by Northern Dancer) is a half sister to two-time American champion Slew o' Gold and 1979 Belmont Stakes (G1) winner Coastal and traces to one of the best families in the American Stud Book, that of Bourtai.

“Real Solution is poised to have a big year in 2019,” says Dex Comardelle of Blue Star. “He's passing on that big turn of foot he had, and that should make his runners dangerous as the distances stretch out. He's also passing on good bone and a great hip. He's kind-natured and professional, but he's just got that 'wow' presence and he seems to be stamping his foals mentally as well as physically.” If he can continue doing that—and if his early runners deliver on the promise of training on—Real Solution may prove a real joy to Louisiana breeding for some time to come.

THIRTY THOUSAND RACES

by Gary McMillen

Malcolm Gladwell's book Outliers, says that anyone can master a skill with 10,000 hours of practice. Delta Downs track announcer Don Stevens estimates that he has called over 30,000 races, which surely makes him a master of his trade.

Look again. It's not often you see a track announcer on the backside, having a cup of coffee with a jockey or wandering around the stable area and hanging out with trainers, grooms and hot walkers. But Don Stevens, who has been the track announcer at Delta Downs since November of 2003, marches to the beat of a different drummer.

"Spending time on the backside has become a passion for me," Stevens explains. "It has brought me closer to the game and, in an odd way, helped me develop more depth as a track announcer."

To untangle the career fabric of how Stevens progressed to becoming an announcer you have to go back to an afternoon in 1977 at Longacres race track in Renton, Washington. "I was 13-years-old and my Mom took me out to the race track," Stevens remembers. "I was immediately enamored of the atmosphere and spectacle of the sport. The excitement got in my blood."

The stimulus had to be put on hold. When the family moved to Oklahoma in the early 80's Stevens eventually went to work for Hertz car rental. As a national sales representative, trapped in a cubical without windows, Stevens felt isolated. "I spent the entire day talking to people all over the country by telephone," he remembers. "It was a good job with a big company but I was not fulfilled. I'm a people person. I want to be making human contact."

Escaping from the constricted world of coats and ties, Stevens enrolled in the John Brooks Broadcasting School in Norman, Oklahoma. In a chance conversation at break time, Stevens struck up a conversation with Jim Byers, who was the track announcer at Remington Park. Byers invited

“This pair [the binoculars Stevens uses to call each race] goes back to when the family used them on summer vacations. I played with them when I was a kid. I’m used to them now and will probably never change.”

Stevens to come out to the track. “Jim gave me a media pass and let me stand up on the roof outside of his announcing booth to learn a thing or two.”

Stevens called the races on his own by speaking into a mini-tape recorder. Moments after each race, mentor and student would watch the replay on VHS, turn off the volume and critique Stevens’ style and content. “Jim broke everything down, providing tips, advice and feedback,” Stevens says. “That’s the path of how you get into this business because there is no formal school specific to becoming a track announcer.”

Hang around a barber shop long enough and you are bound to get a haircut. Stevens was hired as a chart caller for the Daily Racing Form. Soon after he transitioned to assistant media relations director and talk show host at Remington Park. In 1999 Stevens became full time track announcer at Remington Park.

The unknown was about to unfold. For Stevens, calling his first race solo was like jumping off a cliff. “It was harrowing. Nerve racking,” he admits. “You can stand on a roof for years and years but it’s a whole different ball game when you get in the booth with a live microphone in your face. There was a 12 horse field, going a mile and one-sixteenth. I was so nervous. I had dry cotton mouth. The race unfolded terrible because they were all bunched up. My hands were shaking. I could only spit out the first four or five horse’s names. Then a horse named Bourbon Straight Up took the lead so that made it easy. Some horse made a move from way back and I picked him up. Last to first and I got the name and silks right. The experience scared me to death. It was kind of like riding a roller coaster for the first time. You hated it but wanted to get right back on.”

Calmer and more confident in his craft, Stevens is now the established veteran voice of Delta Downs racing. He estimates he has called over 30,000 races in his career. Through the long body of work, Stevens has hammered and chiseled his own methods of preparation for calling a race.

“Repetition is obviously a big thing in this business so your mind has to memorize names and silks and then 20 minutes later erase the memory. It is how your mind is trained,” the 54-year-old Stevens says. “I memorize the silks, the names and any equipment like blinkers or a shadow roll. I make a symbol note in my program in order to separate horses. Running side by side in a scrum down the backside you have to know which horse is which. Once you are comfortable with a system you can look for names and fill in the words. The idea is to keep the flow of words going, while maintaining accuracy.”

Calling out numbers is a cardinal sin. “The first thing you learn, whether its basketball, football or horse racing you never use the number. Numbers are not allowed to come out of your brain or mouth. I can see the big #5 on the saddle cloth but I have to know the name of the horse.”

For Stevens—less is more. The tools of his trade are kept to a bare minimum. Stevens tapes the night’s program on the window of his booth. With a red pen he marks code for shadow rolls or blinkers on the program. He has a 15 inch television monitor as another set of eyes and a pair of heavy metal 10X50 binoculars that was purchased from a 1964 Sears and Roebuck catalogue. “I wouldn’t mind having some expensive binoculars but I’m kind of a cheap guy,” Stevens says with a laugh. “This pair goes back to when the family used them on summer vacations. I played with them when I was a kid. I’m used to them now and will probably never change.”

Stevens work space, high above the track, is now a palace compared to his digs in 2003. “When I first got here it was like a closet,” Stevens remembers. “I had barely enough room to turn around. I sat on a stool and the room was super tiny and cramped.” Good things happen from disasters. After Hurricane Rita blew the roof off of Delta Downs in 2005, the reconstruction (that took nine months and canceled the entire thoroughbred season) resulted in a re-design of the stewards room, the Equibase room and the announcers booth. Stevens now enjoys the comfort of a 12 X 16 work space complete with a desk, a chair and shelving that goes all the way around the base of the window.

The job of a track announcer can be a tongue twister. Names of horses (especially in Louisiana) can be difficult to pronounce. There are 1300 horses stabled in the barns at Delta Downs and new ones ship in every day. "You just do the best you can," Stevens says. "Sometimes I go back to the lineage of the sire and dam and try to figure out how to decipher why they gave the horse such a name. I don't always get it right and I tell the owner or trainer to call me and correct me. Some of these names are crazy and I want to get it right."

Weather conditions can be an obstacle for a track announcer. Dense fog at night, coming off the Gulf of Mexico is a frequent occurrence at Delta Downs. "If I can't see them I can't call them," Stevens says with a shrug of his shoulders. Under those invisible conditions Stevens ad libs. He has told jokes during the race and made announcements about upcoming concerts at the casino. "You just fill in the best you can and make it fun. There is nothing you can do about Mother Nature. Fans have sent me text messages after fog races, saying that was the best race they never saw."

Driving rain is another matter. "Then you can't pick up the color of the silks because of the mud," Stevens explains. "Except for the leader they have all been splashed by the mud and they all look brown."

Slow or delayed mental cognition is not a key contributor to the success of a track announcer. You have to be quick on the draw. "A necessary trait for a track announcer is to have an aptitude for synthesizing numbers and distances and positions in a way that is natural, smooth and fast. My experience as a chart caller gave me a solid foundation for announcing," Stevens says.

Flair reduction. Keeping it simple. Every track announcer has his own repertoire of adjectives but Stevens has learned to keep what he calls "the window dressing" at a minimum. "You learn the nuts and bolts before you learn the flashy stuff," Stevens explains. "Just because a horse is winning by 10 lengths you don't have to make it sound like Secretariat. You first have to establish the foundation of calling horses in order of position with accuracy so that somebody is not watching the race can visualize and understand what’s happening. After you get that down you can put the icing on the cake.”

“We are not Churchill Downs or Belmont Park,” Stevens continues. “We have a lot of $5,000 claiming races and cheaper maiden races. You don’t want to be yelling or screaming superlatives. You don’t want to overdo it. I like to call a race where I know people’s money is involved and just give it enough excitement that it needs. But the basic fact is you always have to describe what is going on. Inform the public. That’s my job.”

There have been memorable horses and races throughout Stevens’ career. The first graded race he ever called was the 1999 Remington Park Derby. “A local horse named Temperance Time split horses in the stretch to beat the heavy favorite and won that race,” Stevens recalls with clarity. “That was the most thrilling adrenaline rush I ever had up to that point.” The first Delta Downs Jackpot race that Stevens called was in 2003 was his first call in $1 million race. “Mister Jester was a 14-1 long-shot,” Stevens recalls. “I had only been at the track for three weeks.”

that their voice is what keeps them employed. Before Stevens goes up to the announcer’s booth he buys a large cup of iced tea. “By post time for the first race the ice has melted,” Stevens says. “I’m definitely an extrovert and do a lot talking in addition to announcing. There have been times when my voice has just given out so I learned to avoid ice in my drinks because it restricts your vocal chords.”

Long days lead into night. Post time at Delta Downs is 5:25, Wednesday through Saturday. He puts in three hours of work at home, handicapping the races and posting his selections on the website. Stevens arrives at the race track between 2 and 3 o’clock. After the races he will next see his wife Jan and family of three children just before midnight.

Bring it. Stevens’ multiple responsibilities (in addition to being the track announcer) are a perfect fit for his multi-tasking personality. The job description includes marketing and promotions. He is on camera between races, interacting with fans on all platforms of social media. He posts race results on Facebook and Twitter as well as coordinating with the television department an assortment of videos and music. Stevens is always up for playing host to out of town visitors, giving them tours of the press box and backside, along with an occasional steak dinner.

his plate, Stevens has launched a personal project. On the YouTube platform he maintains and updates a site named HorsemanDon. With over 300 quality photos and videos, the site focuses on personal profiles of race trackers and instructional material such as a five furlong workout experienced through the perspective of a mini-cam strapped to a jockey’s helmet.

Every Tuesday morning Stevens roams the backstretch at Delta Downs, interviewing jockeys, trainers, grooms and members of the gate crew for his project. “It’s become a passion,” Stevens explains.

It’s a passion that reveals the intimacy of Stevens’ love and dedication for the sport of horse racing. The project has tugged Stevens, who can tell you the name of the cook in the track kitchen, closer to the daily reality of what goes on behind the scenes. “Being around those hard working people on the backside has given me a whole new appreciation and rekindled my love for the game and made me a better announcer,” Stevens declares. “It’s a whole different world than just going to the races and sitting in the grandstand.”

REPRODUCTIVE VETERINARY SERVICES CAN ASSIST MARES AND STALLIONS

Breeding horses is often challenging; it sometimes takes a dedicated team of mare or stallion managers and reproductive veterinarians to maximize pregnancy rates. Many farm veterinarians do an excellent job, sometimes assisted by reproductive specialists at equine hospitals or universities when working with a problem mare or stallion.

Maria Schnobrich DMD, DACP (boarded theriogenologist at the LeBlanc Center for Reproduction, Rood and Riddle) works with her repro group at Rood and Riddle and several universities looking at ways to improve fertility.

Make Sure The Mare Is Suitable For Breeding

Thoroughbred mares entering a breeding shed are often required to have a “suitable for mating” examination by a veterinarian. “This will determine whether a mare’s reproductive tract is healthy, and if the mare is ready for breeding (appropriate stage of estrous cycle) and will tolerate a stallion breeding by natural cover. We use a combination of physical examination, trans-rectal palpation and ultrasound of the reproductive tract and vaginoscopy, as well as obtaining a clean endometrial culture (free of bacterial growth) and normal endometrial cytology, prior to breeding. We check for any abnormalities that could reduce likelihood of a successful mating or might be potentially harmful to the stallion,” says Schnobrich.

“Abnormalities would include evidence of sexually transmissible diseases (coital exanthema or EHV-3), large amounts of fluid in the uterus, evidence of infection or urine pooling, or conformational abnormalities that could be a problem during mating. We also obtain a culture and cytology before breeding, to ensure there is no evidence of clinical infection or excessive inflammation,” says Schnobrich.

Any problems need to be dealt with and resolved before the mare is bred. “We may not have 100% evidence that there are no issues, but at this point in time these are the most routine, thorough, and practical things we can do. Sending a mare that is not suitable uses up valuable covers for a stallion and (in the case of transmissible diseases) may pose risk for the breeding population.”

It is important to have mares in good body condition—not overly fat or thin. Too fat is worse than being underweight. Mares that are somewhat thin but gaining weight are more likely to cycle properly and become pregnant. “It is well known in other domestic species like sheep, that if they are ‘flushed’—on an increasing plane of nutrition before breeding—they are more fertile and have higher pregnancy rates. We try to have mares in proper body condition and gaining weight going into January,” she says.

Being current on appropriate vaccinations is also important, following the AAEP guidelines for pregnant mares. “In the fall it may also be helpful to vaccinate with the new equine vaccine for Leptospirosis pomona to help prevent pregnancy loss. As far as we know, there have been no abortions reported from leptospirosis in mares that have been vaccinated.” Vaccinations against equine herpes virus (EHV-1) should be administered at 3, 5, 7, and 9 months of gestation to aid in prevention of equine abortion.

“We also try to address any systemic health issues, lameness, chronic pain, etc. Mares should be screened for overall health, and checked for equine endocrine disorders such as equine metabolic syndrome (EMS) or Pituitary Pars Intermedia Dysfunction (PPID or Cushings) sometime in the fall/winter before breeding season. Make sure any pathology is well regulated for at least 60 days coming into breeding season,” she says.

At the end of breeding season it is just as important to make sure mares are in good reproductive health if they are not pregnant. “Any reproductive surgeries that need to be done should be taken care of before next breeding season. These might include cervical repairs, perineal body reconstruction (after foaling injuries), and urethral extensions to prevent urine pooling. Many chronically infected mares continually collect urine in the uterus, and are not diagnosed or addressed,” says Schnobrich.

“You also want a clean endometrial culture and cytology. It is very detrimental to the mare’s reproductive tract to go through the whole winter with an infection. It is imperative to clear it up to protect and optimize uterine health for the next year.”

Uterine cysts and oviduct pathology are usually addressed in early January to allow time for resolution of any inflammation caused by these procedures, but not so far away from breeding that a mare might develop new cysts or reocclude an oviduct. “New advances in treatment for oviduct pathologies include hysteroscopic flushing or application of prostaglandins on the oviduct or its opening into the uterus. If we suspect a plugged oviduct (which occurs in a small subset of mares) we may apply prostaglandins to the oviduct or flush it,” she says.

Because the Thoroughbred breeding season starts early, it is also important to make sure mares are under lights at the appropriate time and that lighting is adequate so mares can go through the transition from anestrus to cycling early. Manipulation of breeding season can be accomplished by providing 14 to 16 hours of light daily, starting at least 8 to 10 weeks prior to the breeding season. This regimen is typically begun on December 1st.

Specialized Reproductive Facilities

There are times a certain mare (or stallion) might be sent to a specialist or referral facility where specific problems could be more fully evaluated and addressed. Several referral clinics/hospitals have specialists who do this. Your veterinarian may be able to do what is needed, or may want to work with a specialist to get some answers or further treatment options. Sometimes it takes a team effort, working together.

“We do breeding soundness exams and assist equine reproduction with traditional and routine breeding work, but if a mare or stallion needs more advanced assistance we can do some of these procedures. We also have horses referred to us for more advanced diagnostics,” Schnobrich says.

“Usually we get these at the end of breeding season when a mare has not become pregnant, and the resident veterinarian has run out of options. Probably the most helpful thing we can do is a hysteroscopic exam where we look into the uterus. We often do this with mares that have had persistent infections. We generally find they have adhesions, foreign bodies or scarring in the uterus. In my opinion this type of exam is a very important tool because there are mares that are chronically ‘dirty’ yet you can’t determine why. A mare owner might spend thousands of dollars trying to figure out and resolve the infection and never get her cleared up,” says Schnobrich.

Some problems won’t show up with ultrasound. “When we go in with the scope we might find there is serious scarring, that cannot be detected by ultrasound. We’ve seen mares with uterine horns closed off, or huge scars or adhesions that would prevent pregnancy from developing normally, but you wouldn’t know it from any other test except the hysteroscopic exam. This exam and a biopsy are very helpful tools for the owner to have realistic expectations about the mare, and we could potentially diagnose something that was previously undiagnosed,” she says.

Some of these problems can be addressed and resolved, and some might not be resolvable. “Either way, we need to know. With some mares, owners and veterinarians have tried for a number of years to get them in foal, unsuccessfully, and then we check them and find the uterus is too scarred to carry a pregnancy. Not knowing that condition, you could waste a lot of money trying to get them pregnant.”

The Stallion

One thing we can do to try to optimize pregnancy rates is look at a stallion’s previous fertility and what percentage of his mares became pregnant. “If you ask the stud farm about how a certain stallion has done in the past, it is important to ask two questions,” says Schnobrich.

“One is his per-cycle pregnancy rate (settling a mare on her first cycle) the previous year, and this is the most important question. The per-cycle rate should be above 60% and is a more sensitive indication of a stallion’s fertility. Per-cycle pregnancy rate measures how efficient a stallion is at establishing a pregnancy. The other question is his end-of-season pregnancy rate; of the mares bred, how many did he get pregnant that season,” says Schnobrich.

According to Stephanie Walborn, DVM, DACT (theriogenologist at Rood and Riddle) a stallion can have a very low per-cycle pregnancy rate, but still have a high end-of-season pregnancy rate, given enough time to rebreed the mares. "This is because the seasonal pregnancy rate does not take into account how many times the same mare is bred, over consecutive cycles. Thus seasonal pregnancy rate can be an overestimation of the true number of pregnancies a stallion can obtain. Increasing the number of times a stallion breeds the same mare (over several cycles) increases the amount of physical work for that stallion and costs for both the stallion and mare owners. Ideally, one cover per mare would result in a pregnancy," says Walbornn.

In the Thoroughbred industry it is important to have foals born early, so we want mares bred and settled as soon as possible. "You don't want to breed to a stallion that takes multiple tries. If he is batting 40% or lower per cycle, there may be additional management techniques needed, to try to improve those percentages," she says.

"With natural cover we can perform reinforced breeding. Some studies have shown that this can help stallions who have low per-cycle pregnancy rates. After he covers a mare, the dismount sample is taken, extended, and inseminated into the mare's uterus. With some stallions, this technique is beneficial," Walbornn says.

Schnobrich says most stud farms utilize management procedures to help these stallions, such as limiting book size, limiting covers to just two per day-spread very far apart-and reinforcement breeding. It is important for mare owners or managers to ask about these things and find out whether this is being done. "Often your own veterinarian can be there at the breeding to do the reinforcement breeding, or the stud farm may provide a veterinarian, or they may be able to do it themselves, but this is something to think about, to optimize the mare's chances to settle to that breeding," says Schnobrich.

Walbornn says some stallions may need an increased number of covers per day to improve their pregnancy rate. "These stallions are known as 'accumulators'. They accumulate sperm within their accessory sex glands (ampullae) which can prevent the ejaculated sperm from reaching the urethra and being deposited into the mare's uterus. If only a small quantity of abnormal stagnant sperm is being deposited into their uterus, mares may not become pregnant," she says.

"Management techniques for these stallions include increasing the number of covers per day, administering ecboic agents such as oxytocin or prostaglandin F2 alpha prior to breeding, or trans-rectal massage of the ampullae prior to breeding. Regardless of the reason for low per-cycle or seasonal pregnancy rate, it is important to try to maximize chances of pregnancy by optimizing fertility in both the stallion and mare," says Walbornn.

"In general, horses are very fertile, and when using live cover we assume that for each mating there should be about a 65 to 70% chance the mare will conceive," says Schnobrich.

Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau

NEW YEAR, NEW LHRA

Louisiana Horse Rescue Association (LHRA) is starting off the New Year with a purpose, and we need your help. LHRA is reaching out to anyone that may have connections in the horse breeding and racing world; that can help us shift our new program into action. With your help, we can continue building an organization that will last longer than any of us and be a benchmark for other racing programs throughout the country.

Looking forward in 2019, we at LHRA have some very large goals and lots of work to be done. Our past years have been quite a learning experience of how to operate a successful rescue and adoption program, but they have also left us searching for ways to improve our services to both horses and people. LHRA has rescued and re-homed hundreds of horses, but we have yet to develop a consistent source of funding. Other states have developed programs that are having great success with a ten-dollar per start fee from every racehorse owner and as a bonus, in some of these programs each race-winning jockey donates five dollars per win to this rescue program as well. LHRA has looked at the numbers here in Louisiana and determined that at our current level we could fund our operation for about half of this amount. Who would begrudge a mere $5 per start contribution if they knew their money stayed in Louisiana and actually helped feed and care for an abused or unwanted horse?

Realizing the industry's need to protect the equine athletes who have worked so hard for their owners and trainers, LHRA is designing the framework to establish a true "insurance policy" for our retired or abandoned horses. With the inception of the LHRA "Home Stretch" program, owners, breeders and trainers will always have a safe outlet for their retiring horses. Modeled after successful programs in other states, LHRA is hoping for a consistent funding source by racehorse owners contributing a minimum five dollars for every start at our Louisiana racetracks. LHRA has found that most of the racehorse owners in Louisiana do truly care for the well-being of their animals, but with the Home Stretch program we would be able to insure that any horse that falls through the cracks has a safety net to catch them. The Louisiana HBPA currently sponsors a voluntary program of donating money for each start. This option helps us greatly, and if participation grows, we will be able to continue our efforts for years to come.

Unlike most retirement and rescue programs, the majority of our funding comes from charitable, tax-deductible donations by animal lovers in general, horse owners and jockeys, racetrack management, and the fundraising efforts of our intrepid volunteers. We do not receive any state or federal funding and we give back 100% of every dollar raised to care for the animals in our program. The Jockey Club and other national organizations have applauded our efforts as we continue to strive to improve our services to owners and horses alike. If you would like to know more about our mission, adopt one of the horses in our program, or if you would like to help us buy feed, hay, medications, veterinary and farrier care for our animals please go to www.louisianahorsescue.com for more information or for our donations link. Without our donors and supporters we would cease to function, you are more appreciated than you will ever know.

If you have connections in our industry that can help us, please get in touch. We will use you as much as we can and will pay you nothing – but hey, at least we tell you this up front! In return, you will be well-known as one of the movers and shakers in the horse rescue world that is responsible for making a difference. LHRA only spends money on animal care, so don't expect any lavish parties. However, we do know a few people in the industry, so maybe we can get you an invite to come pass a good time with some great folks! If you can help us, or if you are a racehorse owner that would like to participate in the HBPA-supported voluntary opt-in program that donates money per start to Louisiana Horse Rescue's efforts, please contact us via email at admin@louisianahorsescue.com.

BREEDING NEWS

Songandaprayer Pensioned from Stud Duty

Songandaprayer, a grade 1 winner and sire of 38 black-type winners, has been pensioned from commercial stud duty, according to Journeyman Stud near Ocala, Fla., where the stallion stood in 2018.

Bred in Kentucky by Donna Wormser, the son of Unbridled's Song was purchased by agent Buzz Chace for $470,000 at the 1999 Fasig-Tipton Saratoga Select Yearling Sale. Pinhooker Robert Scanlon later sold the colt for $1 million at the Fasig-Tipton Florida Select 2-Year-Olds in Training Sale to basketball star Bobby Hurley and his wife, Leslie.

Hurley and his wife, along with D.J. Stable, won the 2001 Fountain of Youth Stakes (G1) and placed second in the Toyota Blue Grass Stakes (G1) with Songandaprayer. He was retired at 3 with 3-1-1 record out of eight starts and $380,480 in earnings.

Songandaprayer entered stud in Florida in 2002 at Marablue Farm, which bought D.J. Stable's interest. He stood at Marablue for three seasons before being transferred to Hartley/DeRenzo, Walmac South (also in Florida) for a season and then was sent to Walmac Farm in Kentucky. He stood five seasons at The Stallion Station@Copper Crowne before ending his stud career at Journeyman.

As a sire, Songandaprayer had 63% winners from foals and 90 black-type performers, which

On Louisiana Champions Day LTBA gave away two scholarships in the amount of $1,000 each to lucky drawing winners. Pictured (l-r) Lauren Schexnider, (ULL Lafayette), scholarship winner; LTBA Secretary/Treasurer, Roger Heitzmann, III; Therese Arroyo, LTBA Comptroller; and Patrick Meehan, (LSU), scholarship winner.

On Fair Grounds College Night, December 28, both LTBA and Fair Grounds each gave away two scholarships in the amount of $1,000 each to a total of four to lucky drawing winners. Pictured (l-r), Carly Norton (Centralia Community College, Centralia, WA), Julia Giacona (LSU), Monica Klaybor (LSUHSC) and Michael Fleming (Delgado) included three champions. His 15 crops to race earned more than $51.5 million and averaged $58,021 per starter.

Gemologist Relocated To Louisiana For 2019

Grade 1 winner Gemologist, who won a grade 2 race in his perfect juvenile season, has been relocated from WinStar Farm to Acadiana Equine @ Copper Crown in Opelousas, La., for the upcoming breeding season.

In the deal brokered by David Tillson and Docatty Stables, the 9-year-old stallion will stand for $4,500.

A top five first-crop sire in 2016, a top 10 second-crop sire in 2017, and a leading third-crop sire by winners for 2018, Gemologist sired Frizette Stakes (G1) winner Yellow Agate in his first crop and also is represented by Futurity Stakes (G3) winner Theory and grade 3 winner Golden Diamond. The son of Tiznow also is the sire of promising 2-year-old colt Federal Case, an impressive maiden special weight winner at Keeneland in October, who was a $650,000 acquisition by Robert and Lawana Low out of the WinStar Racing consignment at the recent Keeneland November Breeding Stock Sale.

Winner of the Resorts World Casino New York City Wood Memorial Stakes (G1) at 3, Gemologist capped an undefeated juvenile campaign by capturing the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes (G2) at Churchill Downs. He was bred in Kentucky by G. Watts Humphrey Jr. and Louise Ireland Humphrey Revocable Trust - 2, and retired in 2012 with five wins from seven career starts and earnings of $794,855.

Out of the Mr. Prospector mare Crystal Shard, the regally bred stallion is a half brother to stakes winners Sydenham and Clear Destiny and hails from a rich female family cultivated by breeder Ned Evans.

Ocean Knight to Stand at Averett Farm

Graded Stakes winner, Ocean Knight is the only son of two-time Horse of the Year and Champion sire Curlin, standing in Louisiana.

After breaking his maiden in his first start at two, Ocean Knight won the G3 Sam F. Davis S. in his next start as a 3-year-old. He placed in the G3 Discovery H. that same season and ran third in the G2 Kelso H. at four. He earned a total of $390,000 on the track.

After entering stud in 2018 at Get Away Farm in Florida, Ocean Knight moves to Averett Farm in Loranger for his second season.

Tom's Ready, Requite Join Red River Farms Stallion Roster

Tom's Ready (More Than Ready-Goodbye Stranger) stood his first season in Kentucky and has moved to Jay Adcock's Red River Farm in Couthatta for the 2019 breeding season. The multiple graded stakes winner earned $1,036,267 on the track. In addition to wins in the G2 Woody Stephens Stakes, the G3 Ack Ack Stakes, and the G3 Bold Ruler Stakes, he won the Leemat Stakes, and was stake placed another six times.

Grade 2 stakes placed winner Requite (Warrior's Reward-New Hope Seven) has retired from the track after hitting the board in seven of nine starts. He won five times including the Big Cypress Handicap and the Parrot Key Stakes and compiled $252,510 in earnings.

Speedy Sprinter Power Jam Standing at Jumonville Farm

Power Jam earned the current track records for 5 1/2 furlongs at both Santa Anita and Del Mar, while in the barn of Bob Baffert. A winner of three of five career starts, including the Pirate's Bounty Stakes at Del Mar, he earned $130,240.

"Power Jam was about as fast...the quickest horse I've ever trained," said renowned trainer Bob Baffert.

Power Jam will stand his first full season in 2019 at Jumonville Farms in Ventress, Louisiana after his successful 2018 test breeding season in California.

SALES NEWS

Equine Sales Company Announces 2019 Auction Schedule

Equine Sales Company has released its complete 2019 schedule of sales after previously announcing that the 2-Year-Olds in Training Sale will be held April 2. All auctions will be held in Opelousas, Louisiana.

The 2019 schedule includes the Consignor Select Yearling Sale on Thursday, September 5, and the Open Yearling and Mixed Sale on Sunday, October 27.

While the 2-year-old sale is being held about a month earlier than in previous years, the other two sales are essentially on the same spot on the calendar.

"We believe the earlier 2-year-old sale will work well for buyers and consignors according to the feedback we received," said Sales Director Foster Bridewell. "But we also received word from our customers that the other two sales were already well placed on the calendar. Our select sale last year was one of our best ever, so we want to stick with what is working."

Early graduated from Jesuit High School in 1950 where he was elected Student Body President. He earned his Bachelor's degree from Georgetown University in 1954 where he was elected President of the Student Body (President of the Yard). Following graduation, he served his country as a First Lieutenant in the 42nd Army Infantry Battalion and was stationed in Mainz, Germany from 1954-1956. After returning home, and while teaching English and coaching the Debate Team at Holy Cross High School, he obtained a Juris Doctorate degree from Loyola University School of Law. Thomas practiced law with the firm of Hooper, Schmidt, and Early. In 1962, he was elected as a Louisiana State Representative for the district encompassing the French Quarter, Treme, and Bayou St. John. In 1969, he was appointed by Governor John McKeithen to serve as a Judge on the bench at Civil District Court. Judge Thomas Early was then elected to the bench and served four terms. Throughout his life, he never lost an election.

Among Thomas' passions were owning, breeding, and racing thoroughbred horses. He served on the LTBA Board of Directors from 1975-1980. He owned Triple E Farm in Covington, LA.

He is survived by his three children, Amy Early Korte (Rick), Sean P. Early (Janie), and Erin Early Belleau (Chris); his sister, Jacqueline Early Garic (Bob); and his grandchildren, Ryan and Quinlan Early (Leslie), Charles, Weston, Austin, Kaily, and Holly Belleau, and Kami Korte.

John T.L. Jones Jr. passed away on Friday, November 16, 2018, at his home in Quanah, Texas.

Born in Quanah on July 7, 1934, the horseman most people knew as Johnny Jones was a prominent member of the Quarter Horse and Thoroughbred industries in many capacities, as a trainer, breeder, owner, and the head of Walmac International in Lexington, Ky., from 1976 to 2005, where he oversaw the stallion careers of major sires Nureyev, Alleged, and Miswaki.

When John Gaines dreamed up the concept of the Breeders' Cup and presented his idea to industry leaders in the early 1980s, he credited Jones as the person who got everybody to work together.

Jones is the only person to breed a 2000 Guineas winner, King of Kings, co-bred with Ron Con Ltd.; and an All American Futurity winner, Ochoa, Quarter Horse racing's all-time money leader who also won the Rainbow Derby and All American Derby.

Texas Horse Racing Hall of Fame member Jones was a founding partner of Four Star Sales and was formerly on the boards of both the 132) sold to Chris White for $120,000.

Consigned by Select Sales, the bay colt hails from the family of GISW Cotton Blossom, GSW Vicarage and MSW Miss Atlantic City.

"We were not expecting him to bring quite that much," said Meche, owner of Muscadine Farm. "He has really put on a lot of flesh in the last 60 days. It is night and day. He has really grown. He was ready. He looked the part and we thought getting him in the sales ring as soon as we could was best."

Meche continued, "We like the colt because of his attitude. He is a tough colt and he has a good walk. That is what we liked the most about him."

This is not Meche and Judice's first rodeo when it comes to pinhooking a yearling they purchased in utero.

"We have always bought and sold and had success selling some young babies in the past," Meche said. "We foal out, prep them and bring them here. Our goal is to buy quality mares in foal to young stallions to bring the foals back to market."

He added, "The mare is rebred and in the regional market in Louisiana."

Approximately seventy-five attendees took a bus from New Orleans to Clear Creek Stud in Folsom. First, they watched a short video demonstrating thoroughbred breeding procedures. Next they were shown the stallions and given a brief description of each stallion's accomplishments. The next stop on the tour was the training track to view some recently turned two-year-olds as they worked through their routine. The tour concluded at the foaling barn where, unfortunately, there was yet to be a foal born this year.

Clear Creek Stud owner Val C. Murrell said of the tour, "The visitors are real farmers and I'm sure appreciate the business based on their own perspectives, knowing plenty about farming and seeing how labor intensive it is to run a horse farm."

Louisiana Brothers Calvin, Cecil Borel Planning Oaklawn Comeback In 2019

Hall of Fame jockey Calvin Borel was Oaklawn's leading rider in 1995 and 2001, but didn't ride at the 2018 meeting, opting to winter at Fair Grounds because of business and family reasons.

Borel has 952 career victories at Oaklawn, with his first coming aboard Twice Around in the Count Fleet Sprint Handicap (G2) in 1989. Twice Around also marked the first training victory in Hot Springs for Borel's older brother, Cecil, who is planning a comeback at the 2019 meeting, the jockey said.

Cecil Borel, who has 105 career Oaklawn victories, including eight stakes, retired in 2014.

Calvin Borel said of his brother, "he's going to try and get a couple of horses and run here."

Borel said his brother has spent the last four years watching his grandchildren grow up and fishing.

"He got tired of sitting around," Borel said. "Just a matter of time. He hasn't got anything else to do."

Oaklawn Announces $100 Million-Plus Expansion

Oaklawn Racing and Gaming today announced plans to build an expansion project in excess of $100 million that includes the construction of a high-rise hotel, multi-purpose event center, a larger gaming area, and additional on-site parking. The project is one of the largest hospitality investments in the history of Arkansas.

The yet-to-be-named hotel will be seven stories with 200 rooms, including two presidential suites. Amenities will include an outdoor swimming pool, a luxury spa, fitness center and restaurant.

Adjacent to the hotel will be a 14,000 square-foot multi-purpose events center that will accommodate up to 1,500 people for various events such as concerts, meetings, banquets and weddings.

The project also includes the addition of approximately 28,000 square feet of gaming space and significantly expanded parking.

Construction on the project will begin in May immediately following completion of the 2019 racing season. The target completion date for the gaming expansion is January 2020 with the hotel and event center to be completed in late 2020.

This major expansion represents the second significant announcement at Oaklawn since Louis Cella succeeded his late father, Charles, as president of Oaklawn Jockey Club last December.

In April of this year, Oaklawn announced it will shift its racing season later in the calendar and for the first time will continue racing into May. It's the biggest change in the traditional Oaklawn racing schedule since World War II.

Online Betting On Horse Racing Legal Despite Justice Department Reversal On Wire Act

Legal online wagering on horse racing will not be directly affected by a new U.S. government Department of Justice opinion on the Wire Act but could have an indirect impact on the willingness of banks and credit card companies to allow horseplayers to fund their advance deposit wagering accounts.

The opinion from the Justice Department's Office of Legal Counsel, first reported by OnlinePokerReport.com, reversed a 2011 position taken during the Obama administration stating the Wire Act – a 1961 law prohibiting transmission of betting or betting information across state lines – only applied to sports betting. The reversal by the Trump administration may create an atmosphere of uncertainty among businesses operating online casinos, interstate lotteries and daily fantasy sports contests, along with banks and credit card companies.

The Interstate Horseracing Act of 1978, amended in 2000 to include telephone and other electronic forms of wagering in states where that type of betting is legal, provides an explicit exemption for horse racing to conduct interstate wagering.

Despite that exemption, many banks and credit card companies were slow to permit the use of credit cards to fund advance deposit wagering accounts. Breakthroughs were made in recent years, however, and Alex Waldrop, president and CEO of the National Thoroughbred Racing Association, wants to make sure this new Justice Department opinion does not reverse the trend.

Congress Clarifies Horses are Not "Pets,"

On Wednesday, December 12, Congress passed the Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018 (H.R. 2), sending the legislation to the president, signed the bill into law December 20th. Horse industry highlights include a revised statutory definition that excludes equines from a blanket definition of "pets" and funding for key livestock and international market development programs through Fiscal Year (FY) 2023. In the wake of extensive horse industry outreach, lawmakers struck language in the senate version that defined horses as "pets" within the context of a "Pet and Women Safety" (PAWS) measure. Industry requested that lawmakers delete "horses" from the proposed statutory definition of “pets,” but retain “horses” as a stand-alone category. In response to industry messages communicated to congressional leaders during the past six months, the final conference report states that the bill “clarifies the definition of pet to include certain companion animals, while also providing protections for other animals such as horses, service animals, and emotional support animals.”

The revised definition helps preserve the long-standing classification of horses as “livestock,” while allowing equines to fall within the scope of property damage subject to compensation within the parameters of the PAWS Act.

Kentucky Derby Purse Increases From $2 Million To $3 Million

The 145th running of the Kentucky Derby presented by Woodford Reserve (Grade I) on Saturday, May 4 will be the richest in history as the purse for America’s greatest race and first leg of horse racing’s Triple Crown has been elevated to a guaranteed $3 million.

The substantial $1 million increase to the 1 ¼-mile Kentucky Derby for 3-year-olds highlights a record-setting, 34-race stakes schedule cumulatively worth $12.03 million for Churchill Downs’ 2019 Spring Meet. Fifteen of the races received significant purse hikes, including the Old Forester Turf Classic (GI), Longines Kentucky Oaks (GI) and Humana Distaff (GI), and two new races were added to the historic Louisville racetrack’s action-packed season, which will be run over 38 dates from April 27-June 29.

With a record $3 million in prize money now guaranteed for the Kentucky Derby, the winner will receive the event’s highly sought-after gold trophy and a $1.86 million payday. Also, $600,000 will be awarded to the runner-up, $300,000 to third, $150,000 to fourth and $90,000 to fifth. Previously, the Kentucky Derby purse had been worth $2 million since 2005, and was $1 million from 1996-2004.

The 1 1/8-mile Longines Kentucky Oaks – the Derby’s sister race staged one day prior on Friday, May 3 – received a $250,000 boost to $1.25 million and remains the nation’s most lucrative race for 3-year-old fillies. It had been worth $1 million since 2011, and was worth $500,000 from 1996-2010.

The race that annually precedes the Kentucky Derby, the 1 1/8-mile Old Forester Turf Classic, has been doubled from $500,000 to $1 million, making it one of the most lucrative Grade I grass races for older horses in North America and attractive to potential international competitors.

Another Derby Day fixture, the seven-furlong Humana Distaff for older fillies and mares, had its purse enhanced by $200,000 from $300,000 to $500,000.

All told, there will be a record 18 stakes races cumulatively worth $9.58 million staged over Kentucky Derby Week, including seven stakes totaling $6.2 million on Derby Day and six totaling $2.9 million on Oaks Day. There also will be a pair of stakes on the May 2 Thurbyprogram and stakes races on Tuesday and Wednesday of Derby Week.

The significant increases in stakes prize money are attributed to early returns from state-of-the-art historical racing machines at Derby City Gaming, Churchill Downs Incorporated’s $65 million facility that opened in mid-September.

NTRA at first year since update on tax rules on withholding and reporting

In the first year of operations under newly modernized U.S. Treasury and Internal Revenue Service (IRS) regulations, there was a $307 million reduction in the amount of winning pari-mutuel wagers reported to the IRS using form W-2G, according to statistics released by the National Thoroughbred Racing Association (NTRA).

This reduction in the amount of winning wagers reported was the result of a dramatic 89% decline in the number of winning tickets flagged for IRS reporting. The declines also led to a $35 million reduction in the amount withheld from bettors’ winnings. The new regulations, which took effect Sept. 28, 2017, recast the Treasury’s definition of the “amount of the wager” to include the entire amount wagered into a specific pari-mutuel pool by an individual rather than the prior IRS standard of using only the base amount of the winning wager.

Based on data provided by CHRIMS, which conducts settlements and other services for many of the nation’s pari-mutuel operators, individual racetracks, and the two largest U.S. totalizator companies--AmTote and United Tote--the NTRA estimates the following nationwide impacts over the first 12 months of operation under the new regulations (10/1/2017 - 9/30/2018 vs. 10/1/2016 - 9/30/2017):

- The gross amount of winning wagers reported to the IRS on Form W-2G declined $307,700,000 (82%), from approximately $374,500,000 to about $66,800,000;
 - Federal taxes withheld from winning wagers and sent to the IRS declined $35,400,000 (82%), from $43,200,000 to $7,800,000; and
 - The actual number of IRS tickets flagged for W-2G reporting by the IRS declined nearly 89%, from approximately 235,100 tickets to only about 26,350 winning tickets.
- From a percentage standpoint, the impacts were equally positive for horseplayers, pari-mutuel operators and horsemen across the country--regardless of the size of the racetrack market. The new regulations also provided positive impacts to advance deposit wagering (ADW) operators and their customers.

For more than a decade, the NTRA and others promoted legislation to modernize pari-mutuel withholding and reporting. The industry argued that as pari-mutuel wagering increasingly shifts toward exotic bet types, more winning wagers are being reported and more winnings withheld, creating an unfair burden on bettors, pari-mutuel operators and state and federal governments.

In 2014, the NTRA developed a new strategy that relied on regulatory, not statutory relief from outdated regulations. Following the new strategy, the NTRA was able to convince the Treasury Department and the IRS to expand the definition of the phrase "amount of the wager" to include the total amount bet on a single ticket (or through an ADW) by an individual into a specific pari-mutuel pool. This one simple change in the Treasury regulations that took effect on September 28, 2017 has led to the significant benefits reported today.

Through September of 2018, U.S. wagering has increased 3.95% ($336,724,709) overall while average wagering per race day has increased 7.67% ($180,231), according to statistics provided by Equibase

Warren J Harang III called the meeting to order and asked Jake Delhomme to lead us in prayer.

Warren asked Roger Heitzmann to call the roll. Danny Guidry and Neal McFadden were absent. A quorum was present and the meeting was ready to proceed with business.

Warren requested from the board if there were any changes to be made in their conflict policies.

Roger Heitzmann read the following:

1. Michele Rodriguez – she owns shares in Equine Sales Of Louisiana Sale Company; breeds mares to stallions owned by other members of the board; she owns stallions with other members of the board as well. She is the Director of Louisiana Horse Rescue. She also states that she does business with many members of the LTBA as does her son who operates a public racing stable as a trainer.
2. Jim Montgomery – is a shareholder in Equine Sales of Louisiana; he a member of the board of Equine Sales; owns stallions as well as mares in partnership with Red River Farm (Jay Adcock).

With the completion of stating possible conflicts Warren moved to the approval of the minutes from the Board of Directors Meeting August 4, 2018. Tom Early made a motion to approve the minutes as presented. Charlotte Clavier seconded the motion, which was voted on and approved unanimously.

Committee appointments were mailed to the board with the ten day notice. Warren requested that any board member who wished for a change whether it be an addition or subtraction of themselves to or from a committee to please make him aware. Charlotte requested that she be removed from the Membership Committee as she is currently up for re-election to the board.

Warren welcomed our guests as well as Senator Gerald Boudreaux and Representative Terry Landry.

Much discussion was made about the transfer of purses, conditions of races, disparity of purses, race days, and the future of our business and our involvement as a breed association. No motions were made.

Warren then requested committee reports.

LOUISIANA HORSE RESCUE ASSOCIATION

8900 Melrose Lane, River Ridge, LA 70123
Federal Tax ID# 26-1257231

Dear Owner,

Louisiana Horse Rescue Association is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization dedicated to Racehorse welfare and aftercare. Currently the program is funded entirely through the fundraising efforts of committed volunteers, with 100% of funds raised going directly to the horses. We invite you to read more about our organization at www.louisianahorserescue.com.

In order to continue our efforts of rescuing, retraining, rehabbing and rehoming retired racehorses it is necessary that the horse racing industry provide a regular source of income to the program. LHRA hereby requests that each owner by virtue of signing their name below, authorize the LHBPA to debit their Horseman’s account as indicated below per start as a tax deductible donation to the LHRA, or an optional other amount as you deem appropriate. Once signed, please return this form to us via mail at the post office address above.

Thank you for your help in this matter.

I hereby authorize the LHBPA to debit my account

$10.00 per start as a tax deductible donation to LHRA.

$5.00 per start as a tax deductible donation to LHRA

OTHER amount per start as stated here (may be a percentage)

One time deduction of $ _____, deducted from next placing

This voluntary deduction is to remain in effect until I notify the Executive Director or Secretary / Treasurer of the LHBPA in writing of my decision to terminate this authorization
